The phrase Ahupua'a is an ancient Hawaiian land division representing from the "mountain to the sea", wherein were contained all the elements of a self-sustaining community: land for cultivation; food; fresh water; and natural resources. The Ahupua'a was responsibly managed for survival of the community. At the conference, local experts and invited speakers will explore the theme of the relationship between the land and the sea with a focus on erosion and sediment control, and storm water pollution prevention to protect the soil and water resources in a series of technical papers and special sessions in three tracks: Ahupua'a; Erosion Control Basics; and Soils and Vegetation.

Tuesday December 12: Pre-Conference Scholarship Golf Tournament and Training Sessions: Certified Professional in Erosion and Sediment Control (CPESC) Exam Review Course, Instructor: Michael Harding, CPESC; and Certified Professional in Storm Water Quality (CPSWQ) Exam Review Course, Instructor: TBD.

Wednesday December 13: Full day of technical papers and special sessions.

Thursday December 14: ½ day of technical papers and special sessions, and ½ day field demonstrations. Join us at the pa'ina for an evening of networking with your erosion control colleagues in the company of good music and traditional foods.
